

Guri Dagan Academy — Design

Structured, paid, cohort-based parenting course · visual walkthrough · nothing coded yet

The whole idea in one line

A parent picks their child's age group on the website, pays mom directly (mobile money, not a card), and gets a real course: one chapter a week, a live Zoom call with the group, a WhatsApp group with other parents in the same cohort, and an exam at the end.

How a student moves through it

1. What the student sees first — the track picker

Same age-based layout as the reference image you sent — each card opens into a real multi-week course instead of just a "Contact Us" button.

2. What the student sees once enrolled — their weekly dashboard

Week 1 — Understanding tantrums

Week 2 — Positive discipline basics

Past weeks stay open to revisit. Future weeks stay locked until their release date. The WhatsApp group link and Zoom link only appear once mom has marked the student "Paid."

3. What mom sees — her control panel

guridagan.com/academy/admin — Toddlers cohort, Aug 2026

Amina H.	Paid	Week 3
Sagal M.	Paid	Week 3
Hodan A.	Unpaid	— locked —
Faisa O.	Paid	Week 2

One tap turns "Unpaid" into "Paid" once mom has received the mobile-money transfer — that single action is what unlocks the course, the Zoom link, and the WhatsApp group for that student. Same screen lets her upload each week's chapter and set the Zoom link.

4. The two services stay separate

Quick Coaching (today, unchanged)	The Academy (new)
WhatsApp, 1-on-1, "tell us the problem right now"	Website, structured, paid, cohort-based, weeks 1→N

5. Money — two different flows, not one

- Parent → mom: mobile money / hawala, manual, mom marks it paid. No Stripe, no card needed from parents.
- Mom → ad platforms (later, once live): TikTok/Meta ads require an actual debit/credit card — mobile money doesn't work for paying the ad platform itself. Separate problem from collecting course fees.

6. Still open — need mom's answer before building

Per-track course length — not all tracks need to be the same length. Toddlers might be 8 weeks, Future Parents might be 4. Mom sets this per track.

Price per track — flat price for all, or scaled by length? Needs real numbers.

Zoom link — one recurring link reused every week per cohort, or a new one each week?

Exam style — simple auto-scored multiple choice, or mom reviews answers herself?

7. Build order

1. Mom's chapter-builder (upload material, set week, set Zoom link, set WhatsApp link)
2. Public track picker page
3. Sign-up + "pending payment" state
4. Student weekly dashboard (progress, unlock logic, Zoom, WhatsApp, exam)
5. Mom's roster + mark-paid action
